FLORENCE, SATURDAY, DEC. 24, '81

THE ENTERPRISE wishes its readers a merry Christmas.

It is reported that the Arctic exploring steamer Jeannette has been found off the Siberian coast.

EX-SECRETARY BLAINE will pronounce the eulogy upon the dead president at the forthcoming congressional memorial services.

DELEGATE CURRY has introduced a bill for the appointment of a commission to ascertain the losses sustained by Arizona through Indian depredations.

THE examination of medical experts in the Guitau case, still continues, and the prisoner keeps up his clownish performances with usual regularity. It seems as if this disgusting farce would never end.

THE Prescott Democrat has been enlarged to a six-column sheet and its typographical appearance is much nearer than formerly. Mr. Masterson is making a valuable paper of the Democrat and is reaping his reward in an increase of business.

GUITAU's threat to ventilate the record of his divorced wife was not executed, for the reason, it is stated, that her present husband notified Scoville that he would shoot the prisoner on the spot, should he attempt to blacken Mrs. Dinmore's reputation. The assassin was sane enough to heed this warning.

THE Garfield monument fund, in California, has reached $22,500, and all the subscriptions, except four, have been called in. The monument will be erected in Golden Gate Park and will cost only $20,000. The remainder of the fund will be used to pay the incidental expenses of the work.

THE Independent, published at Santa Barbara, California, comes to us this week with the familiar name of Mrs. J. E.
Prescott-Taylor at the head of the editorial columns. Mrs. Taylor is a pleasing writer. Her diction is varied and copious and her thought original.
We extend her our best wishes and hope she may derive large pecuniary benefits from the Independent.

WE are in receipt of the Daily Evening Tribune, published at Tombstone by Wm.
Nash. It is small in size and pretensions, but proposes to enlarge so soon as an increase in business shall warrant the improvement. It has entered the list against strong competitors, but if its managers have pluck and cash, its chances for success are on an equality with those of its rivals. We extend our hand.

It is stated by Washington dispatches that ex-Senator Sargent will be appointed Secretary of the Interior at the beginning of the new year. Sargent being a western man and familiar with the condition of affairs on the frontier, would certainly be better qualified to do justice to the people of this section than would any of the eastern sentimentalists. He would not treat the Indians as saints and the palladium as sinners.

DANIEL HALL HASKELL died in a San Francisco hotel last Saturday. In early times he was manager of the banking and express house of Adams & Co., and had the princely income of $70,000 per annum. When the Adams institution failed, he invested all his means in a vain effort to avert the financial disaster, and from that time on lived in abject poverty. A monument should be erected to his memory and his example commended to other bank managers.

WE would respectfully call the attention of the virtuous and valiant Rev. Col.
Mr. Tiffany to the fact that eight of his wayward wards are quartered in the hills, twenty miles above Florence. They have neither passes nor squaws with them; are well armed and mounted, and apparently on a hunt for plunder. One citizen found them in possession of articles taken from his ranch. If Mr. Tiffany does not keep his piffering pets on the reservation, he is liable to discover a few absentees at the next monthly count.

Up to December 19th, Sheriff Gabriel had collected taxes to the amount of fourteen thousand and some odd dollars from the levy of 1881. This is more than he collected up to Dec. 31st, in 1880, when Globe and surrounding camps were within the boundaries of our county. This proves that our citizens are prospering and that the varied industries of our county are in a healthy condition. Next year will show still more gratifying results and Pinal will continue to be the most prosperous county in the Territory. In view of information, now in our possession, we have no hesitancy in saying that there will be no less than eight mining companies with capital stock, ranging from five to ten million, operating within the lines of this county before the expiration of 1882. Beside these there will be a number of smaller companies organized before the end of that year. Mining men are just beginning to learn of our mineral wealth and to realize that our mines are not such in name only. The few mining schemes, with which we were confronted, have been exploded, and their willful owners, or rather counterparts, by the demonstrated and indisputable merits of the many claims recently opened.

THE Citizens says that Congressman Davia, of Illinois, has introduced in the House of Representatives a bill to amend the mining laws so as to provide, "that in any case where, between two locations on the same lode or vein, or between a location and any natural object which forms a visible or apparent termination of such vein, there shall be a remnant or portion of said lode or vein not exceeding 1,500 in length, not located or otherwise appropriated for the space of one year, and the same shall not be open and visible or readily accessible in any part thereof, by reason of its being deeply covered or otherwise inaccessible, it shall be lawful for the owner or claimant of either the adjoining ends of said lode or vein, to make claim to such unlocated remnant and to locate it as an extension of the lode held by him, and to obtain patent for it without performing the labor required in case of discovery and location of an original claim." The bill further provides that in case an application has not been made for a patent on such original claim, the application for it may include the extension as aforesaid. In all such unappropriated tracts claim must be made by a local agent, or set up notice by filing a certificate of location, indicating the claim to such tract, as an extension of an adjacent lode, provided, however, that such owner shall apply for a patent on such remnant within two years after such location, or it shall be held as abandoned, and opened for location, as in other cases.

MR. NELSON, the gentleman sent hither by Philadelphia capitalists to examine and report on the Alice mine, returned from Mineral Hill Thursday. He spent four or five days in examining the mine and sampling the ore, but is reticent as to the character of the report he shall make.
He is one of those men who keep their own counsel, and the most ingenious and persistent inquisition of the news find fails to draw out his opinions when he elects to withhold them. However, he went far enough to say that the Alice was a good mine, and that he was favorably impressed with the district and should probably return again within a few weeks to make a further examination there.
This indicates that his report will be favorable, and if it is, good results may be safely expected to follow. Those Philadelphia men have invested largely in Arizona mines, and have been very successful in the management of their properties. They seem to understand that a liberal outlay in developments and machinery is necessary before dividends can be expected and proceed accordingly.
They are seldom given to the penurious policy that characterizes the management of many eastern companies, and to this fact may be credited the uniform success of Philadelphia men in this field. They are just the men we want to open the mammoth lodes at Mineral Hill and bring them up to a bullion-producing condition. There is scarcely a ledge in the district but would yield the precious metal in sufficient amount to pay a handsome profit above the expense of extraction and reduction. But it will take capital and men not imbued with the idea that the mine must pay from the grass-roots to handle them successfully.

THE PRECINCT Democrat has been en-

Mineral Hill Notes.
We have received the official returns from the eight tons of ore shipped from the Alice mine recently. It went $20.95 in silver per ton. This is the true average of the ledge. The ore was taken as it came, without assorting. Considering the remarkable width of the ledge, the above average shows the Alice to be one of the very best mines in the Territory.

THE CHRYSLER.
Which is the Remy property, is surprising to the owners. Mr. Wm. Jennings made an assay test of the two characters of ore contained in the ledge, and one of them returned $24 in gold and 10 ounces in silver to the ton, and the other returned 20 ounces in silver to the ton and 42 per cent lead. When we consider that the ledge pay-streak is about fourteen feet wide, we can understand why the owners should be surprised at and jubilant over the result of the assays.

THE WEDGE.
The vein of horn silver struck in this mine last week is the richest yet found in the district. Two assays were made from rock taken at random from the vein, and one gave a return of $5,000 in silver to the ton and the other $1,800. The ledge is fully fifty feet in width, and in cross-cutting it on the surface several streaks of galena, averaging from 2 1/2 to 4 inches, were found. They will probably come together farther down.

THE CHOLLA.
In the same group, continues to improve with depth. A sack of ore was taken from the 60-foot level and tested at Melrose last week. The result was $80 in silver to the ton and a high per cent of lead. The vein at the point from which the ore was taken, is 3 1/2 feet wide, and solid galena. There are now ten tons of this ore on the dump, and Mr. Sibbald, the superintendent, is preparing to ship it to the Melrose smelter for reduction.

THE IDA.
Frank Wilkinson, one of the owners, brought us some specimens from this mine Tuesday. They show rich copper glaze and chlorides and came from a vein one foot and half in width. On this claim there is a 7-foot ledge running parallel with the above named vein and carrying galena all the way across, assaying from $17 to $20. The claim lies within a few hundred feet of the Seven Cottonwoods.

THE COPPER.
Mr. Jose M. Ochoa, the owner of this property, has contracted for the sinking of forty feet more on the tunnel. The breast of the present tunnel shows a fine body of galena which assays high in silver, and the completion of the present contract will undoubtedly show good results.
Assessment work has just been completed on the following claims:

THE MAXFIELD.
Lying near the Leroy. The ledge is from 12 to 15 feet wide and crops out promi-nently. The ten-foot shaft just completed shows good mineral. Messrs.
Tucker, Maxfield and Hora are the owners.
THE LONG STAR.
Located in the same vicinity, has a five-foot, well-defined ledge, and in the ten-foot shaft and in an open cut of same depth, a twenty-inch streak of ore has been uncovered. It assays $18 in gold and $25 in silver. The claim is owned by the same parties as the Maxfield.

THE RISING SUN.
In the same vicinity, shows a strong ledge with a six-inch streak of grey copper and copper glance on the hanging wall.
John Hora and Mrs. Sarah A. Tucker are the owners.
THE EAST EXTENSION OF THE SILVER SEAL.
Has a 15-foot ledge, carrying carbonates, chlorides and galena all the way across.
It is located in the vicinity of the Mineral Hill mine, and is owned by Tucker, Maxfield and Hora.

THE LEO.
Second south extension of the Pacific. It has a ledge 25 feet in width, carrying car-bonates, galena and horn silver. It is the property of Messrs. Tucker, Maxfield and Will A. Henry.
THE DEXTER.
Has a 7-foot ledge, with a 20-inch streak of galena on the hanging wall, uncovered by a 20-foot shaft. It is owned by Tucker, Maxfield and Dryden.

THE ROSE E. LEE.
Shows a 6-foot ledge, with a strong vein of copper glance, chloride and carbonate ore. Clark Callaway, Jas. Tucker & Co. are the owners.
THE ATLANTIC.
Is the southeast extension of the Pacific.
It has the same character of ledge as the latter and shows a large body of carbonate ore. Mr. Dryden is the owner.

THE NELSON.
Lying southeast of the Mineral Hill, has a 60-foot incline shaft and several open cuts. It shows a very wide ledge and a strong vein of mineral. The owners are C. D. Henry and others.
THE MONARCH.
The first south extension of the Gregory, has a ledge about forty feet wide, sprinkled all through with mineral, galena and car-bonates. The assessment work makes a good showing. H. R. Montgomery and company are the owners.

THE GREGORY.
The second south extension of the Mineral Hill, shows the same character of ore as the latter. The ledge crops very prominently and has unusual width. Tucker, Maxfield and company are the owners.

Pinal County.
We take the following concerning the county of Pinal from Hon. Pat Hamilton's resources of Arizona:
PINAL COUNTY.
The agricultural land in this county is confined to the valleys of the Gila and the San Pedro. For a distance of eighteen miles along the former stream there is a line of fine farms, and for thirty miles up the San Pedro, the valley has been brought under cultivation at different points. In the neighborhood of Florence, the county seat, the valley of the Gila is over a mile wide, and contains some of the richest land in the Territory. Here, as everywhere else, irrigation is required to produce a crop, and the area that can be cultivated depends entirely on the water supply. Corn, wheat, barley, alfalfa, vegetables, and fruits are raised in Pinal county. The soil is a rich loam of dearable fertility, and well adapted to the usual agricultural products and semi-tropical fruits. There is no more beautiful sight in the Territory than the valley of the Gila surrounding Florence, when the ripening grain, waving fields of alfalfa, and shady groves of mesquite and cottonwood are in their bloom. There are thousands of acres of fine land above and below Florence, which are lying idle for the want of water. It is believed that with a proper system of irrigation, double the number of acres now under cultivation could be made to produce fine crops.

There is evidence in the ruins of the Casa Grande that this portion of Arizona supported a dense population at one time; and the remains of the large irrigating canals go to show that those ancient tril-lions of the soil had a much more comprehensive idea of the irrigating problem than their modern successors. The number of acres under cultivation in Pinal county is estimated at 6,000, not including the land occupied by the Pimas, which is nearly all within the limits of this county. The yield for 1880 was: Barley, 1,000,000 pounds; wheat, 400,000 pounds; corn, 350,000 pounds; besides large quantities of hay and alfalfa. The yield of grain to the acre was: Barley, 1,500 pounds; wheat, 1,200 pounds; besides cornels, beans, potatoes, onions, cabbages, turnips, and all kinds of vegetables are raised in abundance.

Peaches, grapes, apricots, pears, figs, quinces, and pomegranates, all do well in Pinal, and many farmers are going into the business extensively. The climate and soil are specially adapted for fruit culture, and the valley of the Gila yet promises to become one immense orchard and vineyard.

FLORENCE.
Florence, the principal town of Pinal county, is situated about 25 miles northeast of Casa Grande, on the Southern Pacific railroad, 80 miles north of Tucson, and 45 miles south-east of Phoenix. The town has a beautiful situation in the rich valley of the Gila. It is surrounded by groves of cottonwood, clear streams of water flow through every street, and beautiful gardens, where fruits and flowers grow luxuriantly, make it one of the most attractive towns in the Territory. Its buildings are principally adobe, many of them tastefully adorned. Florence has several large business houses, two hotels, two commodious public schools, a Catholic church, a brewery, restaurants, saloons, and two flouring mills. The town was laid out in 1868, and has a population of 800, one-third of whom are Mexican. It is the county seat of Pinal. The Territorial Enterprise, a weekly newspaper, is published here. It is an able and industrious champion of the many resources of that portion of the Territory.
Florence is about 500 feet above sea level, in the center of one of the finest bodies of agricultural land in the Territory, and with rich mines north, south, and east, will always be a prosperous town.

PINAL.
Pinal, a prosperous town in the county of the same name, is situated on Queen creek, about thirty-five miles north-east of Florence. The town is built of wood and a light-colored basaltic rock, which is found in abundance in the vicinity, and which gives the town a permanent and substantial appearance. The place has several large stores, two hotels, one bank (a handsome structure of stone), restaurants, saloons, blacksmith shops, and all the other branches of trade which are found in a prosperous mining town. Pinal has one church, and a public school which is well attended. The Odd Fellows have a fine hall and a flourishing organization in Pinal. The mill of the Silver King mining company is situated at this point, and many productive mines in the vicinity make Pinal a growing and prosperous town. Population about 600.

SILVER KING.
Among the other towns of note in the Territory, may be mentioned Silver King, which has been built up around the famous mine of the same name. It is situated about five miles from the town of Pinal, and is a thriving mining camp, having three stores, two hotels and several saloons. Population about 250.
